

2023 SUMMER UPDATE

Guest speaker series, Community Projects, & Greenland Workshop

The ARCYP speaker series is in full swing with webinars on a variety of topics including:

- Cultural Revitalization
- Arctic Art
- Arctic Governance
- Arctic Commerce
- Green Technology
- Natural Resource Development
- Whole Health
- Resilient Arctic Economies

Upcoming webinars will address responsible resource development and Arctic resiliency.

Fellows have the opportunity to hear from subject matter experts; shown on the left meeting with Alaska Native Leader & Author William (Willie) Hensley.

Subject matter experts featured in the speaker series include representatives from UArctic, the governments of Nunavut and Northwest Territories, the University of Greenland, Polar Knowledge, Inuit Circumpolar Council, Aleutian Pribilof Islands Association, Arctic Mayors Forum, Voice of the Arctic, the Alaska Department of Commerce and Economic Development, US Fish and Wildlife, and the Parliament of Greenland, with more to come. Thanks to all who have shared their time and expertise!

As a major element of the ARCYP, the fellows are developing community projects aimed at making Arctic communities more resilient in seizing opportunities and adapting to change.

Countdown to the Greenland Workshop begins!

In August, Fellows from Canada and Alaska will travel to meet their Greenlandic cohorts. Continuing their full exploration of Arctic policies and cultures, the fellows will visit local leaders in Nuuk and Sisimiut for rural and urban learning experiences.
